Programme Notes

Little Chrissietina's Magic Fantasy is a shortened version of Chrissietina's Magic Fantasy, a work composed in 1994. It was initially conceived as a piece for solo violin, using influences of the 'rockabilly' style of music. However it then developed into virtuosic work for two violins, using elements of both techno and death-metal styles of popular music.

This piece was selected as the Australian Young Composers entry to the 1995 Bangkok Music Festival and Asian-Composers League Conference. It has since become an extremely popular piece with violinists, being performed many times by a large range of performers in Australia and around the world.

In a recent review of a performance by the Morpheus Ensemble in Perth, the reviewer from The West Australian commented: "This is a work that deserves to become a standard piece in the pitifully small repertoire for two violins".
