

The moon drowned
for soprano, tenor and piano

Andrew Schultz
Opus 102c
Text, Katherine Firth

*The moon drowned in the ocean,
A silver coin.
Is water safer than land?*

*The towering waters fall, the dinghy floods,
We swallow salt, we swallow blood.*

*A star arises in the morning,
A deep grey sky, and pre-dawn calm.
The wind calls. A child's voice.*

*The waves on the wet sand found him
After the storm.*

Flowing, childlike ♩ = 72

Soprano

Tenor

Piano

p espress.

The moon drowned

p espress.

6

S

T

Pno

p espress.

The

in the o - cean, A sil - ver coin.